

Dear Friends,

Two very sweet dogs were dumped in our neighborhood this week. We took them in and kept them for 4 days hoping to either locate the owners, find new owners, or possibly keep them ourselves.

As we do not have an enclosed yard and already had 4 pets it has turned out that we could not keep them as much as we wanted to do so.

I called rescue agencies and they do not accept strays. The only option left was to turn them over to the county. They are kept for 7 days so that if the owner is looking they have that chance. Past the 7 days, then a rescue agency can go in and put them up for adoption or the pound will put them up for adoption. I'd really like to find them a home before their 7 days is up to ensure that they are not put to sleep. If anyone is interested or knows of anyone interested please contact me. They really would make great pets-even in their distress they never once snarled at us or tried to bite in any way. They were just plain sweet.

If interested, the pound charges $87 for the male and $92 for the female to be adopted. They would be spayed/neutered, vaccinated and have their rabies shot.

The black dog is the male and the sandy colored one is a female.

Thanks
